

Dear Camp Director,

Why consider "Outdoor" Laser Tag?

FUN and SUN! Open Skies and Fresh Air! Excitement and Anticipation! Team and Individual Maneuvers and Tactics! Interactive and Unique Real Gaming

The mission field is set-up and ready for play at your camp. Campers approach the field as the sunshine warms the air and are instructed on laser operations and their mission. They begin play, maneuvering between the field of obstacles. Waiting for them, the other team. Campers have a short time to locate their opponents. As they signal each other, silently instructing each other to move to surround their opponent, they get a rush of adrenaline and their heart races. They fire their Scorpion Lasers and see and hear their opponent get tagged and they are engaged. Laser fire is returned only to hit the obstacle protecting them. Now they know where the sniper is located and they return fire, tagging their opponent and the fun continues.

These tactics form Laser Tag gaming (your campers chase someone, just like tag) where a high tech electronic laser device counts the number of times you have "tagged" the other players with your laser.

Since you may be more familiar with paintball or indoor Laser Tag we will start with what makes Outdoor Laser Tag more exciting and Fun!

- 1.) Laser Tag is played Outdoors, anytime of DAY or night. Since there are no projectiles like paintball, it is a Safe and Fun event for campers of all ages and staff.
- 2.) Campers say it's better than a video game or movie thriller! Much of the excitement comes from the tension, anticipation and real action on the mission field, in the woods or on a barrier/obstacle field we set-up, makes the event more fun than an indoor arena. The moving and shooting is exciting because of the anticipation.
- 3.) Campers are equipped with a wide range of cool laser units. The lasers use a harmless infra-red signal which fires up to 400 feet and establishes a 'hit' when it hits the opposing players sensor. This makes the sport much safer than paint ball, without compromising on playability.
- 4.) Our Mission Directors manage the mission field making the game more active and the players immersed into the game, creating a "WOW!" effect that campers will be talking about during and after the event for weeks to come.

Find out why Outdoor Laser Tag is consistently voted the #1 Special Event at camps - Read some of the testimonials from other camp directors like you.
